Master Fish Warden H. G. Van Dusen has submitted the following detailed report to the state fish commissioners at Salem, Oregon, covering the operations of his office for and during the month of August, 1905.

To the Honorable Board of Fish Commissioners, Salem, Oregon.

Gentlemen—Arrests and prosecutions during the month for violation of the fishing laws have been as follows:

District No. 1.

August 22 complaint was filed by Water Bailiff Settem against Joe Johnson, the stableman in charge of the Prael & Eigner livery stable, at Astoria, for his allowing sawdust to be dumped into the waters of the Columbia river. Upon being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Goodman, Mr. Johnson entered a plea of guilty to the charge, whereupon he was fined $50 and costs, which were paid.

Hatchery Operations.

At the Salmon river hatchery we are about through with our work on the spring salmon. The result of the work so far shows that from 303 salmon 1,150,000 eggs were secured. Of these eggs, we have let the Lewis and Clark commission have 63,000. The first eggs were taken July 19. In another few weeks the August and fall salmon will be entering this river, and we should get another million or two eggs from this variety of salmon; and still later on, a million or two of the silverside variety.

At the McKenzie river station we began taking eggs August 15, and to the present time have secured 240,000, with the prospect good for a full supply. At this station we will work on nothing this year but the spring salmon.

Reports received from Ontario are to the effect that salmon are now showing up much better in Snake river, and if they are not fished too hard by the Idaho and Washington fishermen on the lower Snake river we should do fairly well this year. The water in the river is one and one half feet lower than ever before, and does not offer much of an inducement for salmon to ascend the stream, but indications are to the effect that it will soon be raising, which should favor our work.

At the Wallowa station, the indications are not very favorable. Superintendent Allen seems to think that most of the salmon in the Wallowa river below the station have been dynamited this year.

The contractors constructing the new hatchery building have been delayed somewhat on account of not being able to get their lumber hauled, but the work now is progressing fairly well, and it should be finished within a few days of the time limit.

Alsea River.

I have been making an investigation this month of Drift creek, one of the large tributaries of the Alsea river, looking for a situation where we could establish a sub-station to work in connection with the Yaquina hatchery. This past season we divided up the fry raised at the Yaquina hatchery between the Yaquina and the Alsea, hauling 1,000,000 of the Chinooks and 1,000,000 of the silverside fry over the mountains and liberated them into a tributary of said Drift creek. After this, I want to transfer the eggs when in the eyed state, which will be much more satisfactory, and am desirous of having a situation on said Drift creek where a few hatching troughs can be set up and the fry raised and turned out in the immediate vicinity. While we get so little money from licenses for work on our coast streams I am disposed to favor this plan for the Alsea river, and feel confident that the work done in this way will assist the river very materially and at a nominal expense.

Oregon City Fishway.

In regard to the state fishway, over the falls of the Willamette, I beg to report that on August 10 I had Mr. A. S. Tee, a civil engineer, make a contour survey of that part of the fishway that I desire to improve, and on August 12 entered into a contract with Harry Jones, of Oregon City, to enlarge and deepen pools No. 12, 13, 14 and 15 in a general manner, from three to five feet. Also to make an additional
